Songs for our times

GO A LITTLE CRAZY

We work from home
Wear a jacket over our pajamas.
No commute! No office dramas!
We try to do big things, but my connection is so slow.
What day is it? Huh! I don't know!

I can't inhale your fragrance.
I miss touching your hair.
We long to feel the heat.
But you're not there.
How do we make love when we can't touch?

Ooooo...Mmmmm

CHORUS: (twice)

Let's go a little crazy
To keep from going nuts.
We can still connect now
Even if we can't touch.

We miss the city beat,
The noise in the street,
The car horns and the crowds,
Children in playgrounds laughing out loud.
Where is the heat?
Where is the beat of that city heart pumping? So sweet!

We celebrate with family on a little screen.
Grandma and grandpa making the scene, along with the teens.
All blowing kisses which everyone misses.
Playmates, friends, and family.
Together...virtually.

CHORUS (TWICE)

Let's go a little crazy
To keep from going nuts.
We can still connect now
Even if we can't touch.

Virtual love! Virtual work!
Virtual family! Virtual friends!
Lots of perks!
But I'm still going berserk.

Virtual love! Virtual work!
Virtual family!
All this virtuality is changing my reality.

We're far away. But we're close in a way.
I'm in your home. And you're in mine.
We open our separate bottles of wine,
Make a toast on the little screen,
Kick back and everything is fine.

CHORUS

Let's go a little crazy
To keep from going nuts.
We can still connect now
Even if we can't touch.
